Regional Professional Committees

PURPOSE

The purpose of the Regional Professional Committees (RPCs) is to support ICM to strengthen the midwifery profession regionally and globally, in alignment with the ICM Professional Framework for Midwifery. As advisory committees, the RPCs will work alongside ICM's Head Office team to help to build positive working relationships and regional networks between midwife educators, midwife regulators, midwife researchers, emerging leaders and midwives' associations (MAs) in their respective regions. The RPCs help communicate and implement operational activities provided by ICM's Head Office Team for strengthening midwifery education, regulation, research, and practice across and between ICM's six regions.

SCOPE OF WORK

The RPCs are voluntary and advisory, reporting to ICM's Chief Midwife and the Chief Executive. The committees have no decision-making authority and work in an advisory role to the ICM Head Office in its implementation of operational activities.

The RPCs fulfil their purpose by:

- Meeting at least quarterly to develop shared understanding of the position of midwifery education, regulation, research, and practice in the region, including strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats
- Providing advice to Head Office and through the Head Office to Regional Board Members about ways to strengthen midwifery education, regulation, research and practice and how suggested actions can be incorporated into ICM's operational plan, including:
 - a. Helping to build regional networks between midwifery educators, regulators, researchers, and MAs.
 - b. Helping MAs to build relationships with midwifery schools and midwife educators.

- c. Creating a list of midwife educators and contacts in the region.
- d. Helping MAs to build relationships with midwifery regulatory authorities and midwife regulators.
- e. Creating a list of midwife regulators and contacts in region.
- f. Helping MAs to build relationships with midwife researchers.
- g. Creating a list of midwife researchers and contacts in region.
- h. Helping MAs to build understanding of ICM's Professional Framework for Midwifery and opportunities for advocacy, capacity-building and strengthening elements of the Professional Framework in the respective region as necessary.

Acting as a resource of experts for the ICM Head Office. When requested, the Head Office will coordinate collaboration between RPC members and Regional Board Members. When requested by the ICM Head Office, RPC members may also do representation on behalf of ICM

- Providing advice to ICM about how educators, regulators, and researchers can engage with health service providers and collaborate on activities to strengthen the midwifery profession
- Contribute to the Global Midwives' Hub by supporting the collection by ICM of reliable and verifiable data.

MEMBERSHIP

Each RPC is comprised of 9 members:

- Two of each of the following: midwife educator(s), midwife regulator(s), midwife researcher(s), practising midwife(ves), and one emerging midwife leader, ensuring diversity across the region.
- A maximum of one midwife from any single member association can be appointed to the RPC.
- A member of the Head Office Regional Team may attend meetings on an ad hoc basis.

Each Committee will select its own Chair.

The Regional Board member will be invited to attend a RPC meeting at least once per year.

Additionally, the RPC Chairs, ICM's Chief Midwife and Chief Executive will meet at least once annually to discuss how the work of the RPC can be incorporated into ICM's operational plan.

The working language of the RPCs is region specific (English, French and Spanish), and the Chair must be fluent in English. In regions where French and Spanish are the predominant languages, it is advantageous that at least 1/3 of members also speak these languages.

All RPC members, including the Chair, are volunteers. RPC members have no decision-making authority. ICM's Chief Midwife will guide the RPCs in their role.

Each RPC member must:

- Prepare for and attend meetings regularly.
- Commit to actively participate in the work of the RPC.
- The chair of the committee must be able to communicate effectively in English.

MEMBERSHIP TERM

A membership term is three years with eligibility for appointment for a second term. No more than half the members will complete their term at any one time.

The reappointment process takes place in the first six months of the year.

Half of the inaugural members (appointed in 2022) will only serve a single term and half will be extended to two consecutive three-year terms. Those members whose term is extended to two consecutive terms must have made a useful contribution to the work of the RPC. The RPC will advise ICM's Chief Midwife and Chief Executive on which members should serve a single or two consecutive terms.

All members may be reappointed to the RPC for another non-consecutive term in the future, providing that a minimum of three years pass between the latest and most recent term.

APPOINTMENT PROCESS

Midwives with the requisite expertise may submit an expression of interest for membership. The official representatives of the regional midwives' associations advise ICM's Chief Midwife and Chief Executive on which nominees should be appointed. The Chief Midwife will appoint RPCs members, taking into account the recommendations from the midwives' associations. ICM's Chief Executive will also oversee the reappointment of RPC members' terms. Selection will aim to ensure RPC membership that reflects the diversity of the region as much as possible.

In any one year, a member who attends less than half the meetings or does not actively contribute to the activities of the RPC will be deemed a non-active member and their term will be cancelled by the Chief Midwife or Chief Executive. Nominees for individual members may be sought from time to time if positions on the RPC become vacant for any reason.
